

The NJAKE Executive Board is made of members who are just like you: committed educators who believe that we must constantly strive to be the best teachers we can by enriching our lives with workshops and conferences that give us relevant information and guide us in best practices. We meet 5 - 6 times a year to discuss ways that we can bring information to share with other kindergarten educators. We research presenters and meet with NJEA and Dept. of Education officials to bring our members the most current and informative workshops and conferences. We usually meet in the early evening at a low cost restaurant, for dinner in a private room. We are in great need of members who are willing to bring these workshops into their counties so that more teachers will have easy access to quality learning.

We strongly encourage new membership on the executive board and any NJAKE member is welcome to join.
